CHRIS HADFIELD

Commander | Explorer | Business Leader | Six-Time Bestselling Author

Arguably “the most famous astronaut since Neil Armstrong,” Colonel Chris Hadfield is a heavily decorated astronaut, engineer, and pilot who has become a worldwide sensation. His video of David Bowie’s “Space Oddity” has been seen by over 75 million people online and was called “possibly the most poignant version of the song ever created” by Bowie himself.

Chris cemented his place as a trusted and globally recognized Canadian icon when he became the first Canadian Commander of the International Space Station. He is celebrated for making outer space accessible to millions, and for infusing a sense of wonder into our collective consciousness not felt since humanity first walked on the Moon.

NASA’s former director of operations, Chris spent more than three decades working for NASA and the Canadian Space Agency. During his career, he flew three space missions, built two space stations, performed two spacewalks, crewed the Shuttle and Soyuz, and in 2013 commanded the International Space Station for six months.

In recognition of his prolific career, Chris has been honoured with the Order of Canada, the Meritorious Service Cross, and the NASA Exceptional Service Medal. He was also named the Top Test Pilot in both the US Air Force and the US Navy, and was inducted into Canada’s Aviation Hall of Fame. In 2023, Chris was asked to advise and assist King Charles III in exploring sustainability in space.

Chris is an advisor to SpaceX and Virgin Galactic, and chair of the Board for the Open Lunar Foundation. He is currently an adjunct professor at the University of Waterloo.

CRISIS DAY

If you've done the work, if you have built up a certain set of skills, then at some point you need to be able to act on it.

Don't prevaricate. Just trust yourself.
