Every week, they invite actors, influencers, musicians, athletes and other icons to sit down and tell the stories behind the social media posts that they've shared with the world.

Chosen as Canada's Covergirl Ambassador for three years, Sangita was honoured to use her platform to show how vital representation is in the media as well as the beauty industry. Sangita has a passion for giving back to her community, stepping up when it's needed most, from delivering food to frontline workers during the pandemic to hosting national fundraisers for charitable causes.

Well-known for her love of fitness and health, Sangita created her #FitnessTuesday social media series to help motivate her followers to live their best lives. She looks at her social media platforms as a yearbook, posting moments that encourage conversations and highlight her true self to the world.

With her husband, two daughters, and dog, Indie, by her side, Sangita always aims to live life to the fullest.

BLOND AMBITION
Canada's Sangita Patel turns heads with a Beyoncé-inspired new look

Sangita Patel is kicking off 2024 with a dramatic transformation! The Toronto-born TV personality surprised her Instagram fans with a striking platinum blond look, later revealing that the bold switch-up was courtesy of a wig. "Yess, my inner diva slash Beyoncé," she joked, sharing photos from a glam shoot that came together just in time for her Jan. 2 birthday - and giving Hello! Canada readers an exclusive peek at these unseen images (which also feature her dog, Indie, top). "Getting older is a gift, truly precious," wrote the former ET Canada host, 47, who was diagnosed in 2021 with a rare and aggressive form of thyroid cancer. Miraculously, she responded well to treatment and is now cancer-free, though the journey proved to be profoundly life-changing. As a result, the uptight mom of two, foodie and fitness enthusiast - who is also a Canadian ambassador for CovertGirl - places even greater emphasis on gratitude, resilience and contentment in everyday moments with her family. "Joy is my voice, and that is what I want to show," she has said. Stepping confidently into a new year, Sangita is clearly embracing her next chapter with strength, humour and fearlessness!
