TESSA VIRTUE

Olympic and World Ice Dance Champion

Tessa Virtue skated into the hearts of people around the world when she became the youngest ice dance champion in Olympic history at the 2010 games alongside her on-ice partner, Scott Moir. The winner of three Olympic gold medals — and five Olympic medals in total — she is the most decorated female figure skater in Olympic history.

Tessa announced her retirement from skating in 2019. She has since earned an MBA from the Smith School of Business and has graduated with a Masters of Applied Positive Psychology from the University of Pennsylvania. Tessa is also an executive advisor with Deloitte, where she works with the firm's senior leaders and their clients.

In addition, Tessa is the face of women's training at Adidas Canada, and a long-time member of the Special Olympics Canada Champions Network.

With a passion for mental health, wellness, fitness, and fashion, Tessa has been featured in several prominent media outlets, including feature coverage in Strong Fitness Magazine and Best Health Magazine. She has also been featured in Vogue Japan and is a two-time cover girl for Canada's Real Style Magazine. Tessa joined CBC as a guest analyst for the 2022 Beijing Olympic Games and is a familiar presence in Canada's fashion community and at red carpet events.

Tessa was inducted into the Canada Walk of Fame in 2018, named to the Order of Canada in 2020, and received the Canadian Order of Sport Award, marking her induction into Canada's Sports Hall of Fame in 2023. Tessa lives in Toronto with her husband, Toronto Maple Leafs player Morgan Rielly, their baby boy, McCormick, and their pup, Zoë.
